A LETTER FROM MRS. OLA

Dear Students, Parents, and Staff,

As we reach the end of another academic year, I find it essential to reflect on our journey together. This year has been one of transformation and challenge, as we navigated the complexities of moving to our new campus. The transition was not without its difficulties, and I must admit that seeing our community adapt so quickly while I struggled with the change was a source of personal frustration.

It was, at times, disheartening to witness the ease with which many of you embraced your new surroundings. You have pursued your dreams with passion and enthusiasm, engaging in activities and studies that truly inspire. It is a testament to your resilience and determination, qualities that will serve you well in all your future endeavors

It was, at times, disheartening to witness the ease with which many of you embraced your new surroundings. You have pursued your dreams with passion and enthusiasm, engaging in activities and studies that truly inspire. It is a testament to your resilience and determination, qualities that will serve you well in all your future endeavors.

I am particularly proud of our teachers, who have worked tirelessly to ensure that each student feels supported and valued in this new environment. Their dedication has fostered a sense of community that I am grateful to see flourish. The accomplishments of our students this year have been remarkable, and it is heartening to witness how you have embraced the opportunities presented to you.

As we move forward, let us carry the lessons learned this year into the next. While the transition may have been challenging, it has also shown us the strength of our community and the potential that lies within each of us. I am excited about what the future holds for our school and all of you.

Thank you for your hard work, resilience, and commitment to making our school a place of growth and excellence.

Warm Wishes for a Wonderful Summer 🌸🌸🌸

🧡 Episode 1: "Think Pink"

An emotional kickoff honoring strength, survival, and solidarity during Breast Cancer Awareness Week.

🧠 Episode 2: "Let's Talk About It"

Mental Health takes center stage in this powerful episode where silence is broken and stigma is shattered.

🚫 Episode 3: "Words Hurt"

It starts with a whisper, a glance, a post. But in this gripping episode, students confront the quiet cruelty and loud consequences of bullying. Through raw testimonials, open discussions, and a powerful school-wide campaign, the message is clear: kindness is louder—and it always wins.

🧡 Episode 4: “Home Is Where the Heart Visits”

In this uplifting and emotional episode, the school opens its arms to a group of incredible orphans, turning an ordinary day into an unforgettable one. With laughter, love, and little acts of kindness, students discover that giving isn’t just about what you offer—it’s about how you make others feel seen, heard, and cherished.

🧡 Episode 5: “Beyond Awareness”

The season finale reflects on the campaigns that sparked conversations and inspired change—because true awareness doesn’t end when the posters come down.

Paws, Applause, and New Beginnings

Today was no ordinary day for me—Sahafa, the beloved school cat of Al-Sahafa International. I started it like any other: patrolling the halls, soaking up sun, and stealing hearts at the MUN conference with a surprise appearance.

But beyond the applause and pets, something special awaited. In a quiet corner outside, I gave birth to a tiny litter of kittens. The students and staff quickly found us, bringing us to safety with warmth, food, and care. I may be just a cat, but here, I'm family—an unexpected, cherished part of the Al-Sahafa story.

At exactly 9:19 PM on November 4, a message landed that none of the ASIS seniors ever expected to read. What was supposed to be the trip of a lifetime, the long-awaited journey to Italy, had been officially canceled due to unforeseen and unfortunate circumstances. Just like that, months of planning, years of anticipation, and countless daydreams about cobblestone streets, gelato nights, and Roman ruins morphed into a single, devastating moment.

Many might wonder what's happening in this photo. Few may guess that a roach was found on the wall, causing everyone to jump out of their seats and bolt for the door. Others might think a pot of gold suddenly appeared and everyone got just a little too excited. We encourage you, however, to think about what could cause high school students to get this enthusiastic. If you guessed an announcement like, "You have ten seconds to ask your friend for help," during an Organic Chemistry exam, then you're spot on!

The most dreaded part of school, undeniably, is the nonstop stream of examinations that make you want to rip your hair out in frustration. 99.99% of the time, there's absolutely no exception to this feeling. Then there's the rare 0.01%: the final high school exams, where something strange happens. The stress is still there, indeed, but it's accompanied by a new emotion.

As we complete our last-ever exams, it becomes clear that the experience isn't just about answering questions or chasing grades. We're sitting at our usual desk placements, surrounded by familiar faces, fully aware that this might be one of the last times we're all together, agonizing over an impossible integral or trying to translate what Hamlet meant on page 24, line 12 when he said, "Frailty, thy name is woman!"

The goodbye to these sheets of paper, which once defined us, is undeniably a difficult one. As much as we hate to admit it, we will undoubtedly miss these thin booklets of torture. So, to those still in school, we urge you to think twice before resenting those innocent exam papers.

Episode Description

There's Waffle Wednesday and Wacky Wednesday, but every ASIS senior knows the real tradition: We Wear Pink on Wednesdays. What better way to kick off Spirit Week than by channeling our inner Mean Girls and lighting up the halls in a vibrant wave of pink?

Some days, you just need to roam around your house in pajamas and blankets, and some days, you need to do that at school too. We seniors rolled straight out of bed, cozy and comfy, rocking onesies and slippers like it was a full-blown slumber party in the hallways. Now we finally understand why they don't let us dress like this every day: we'd be snoozing through every single class.

SERIES

Episode Description

No Granny Sweaters , Just Senior Jackets

Nothing makes you feel more grown-up than walking around school as a senior. Wearing a senior jacket, you feel even more entitled, like you just stepped out of an American high school movie. When our senior jackets arrived, the sight was unimaginative at first, but soon the memories of all our hard work—designing them, debating over which customized patches to add, digitally editing to see how they would look—came rushing back. It had all paid off. The moment a senior jacket is handed over is an important one: you're being given a representation of yourself, something customized for you and only you.

Overview More like this Details

Starring: Class of 2025

Genres: Teen

The back design of the jacket was the most debated topic in the class: congrats to the team that won with "Class of 2025" instead of "Seniors 2025"- the beauty of these jackets proved you right!

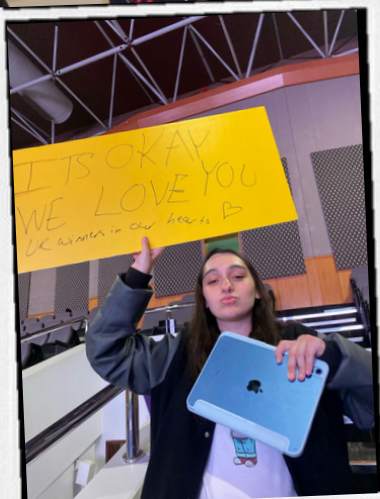

Beyond the individual aspect, there's also the collective one: as we slip on our senior jackets, we become aware that this is the beginning of our final year.

S SERIES

A Touch of Senior Sentiment

As senior year draws to a close and our jackets are reluctantly packed away, we asked each senior which patch on their jacket best represents them or felt the closest to their heart throughout the year. Here are some of their responses:

"I chose Garfield because, honestly, I love him — he's just me. Every time I look at him, I see the resemblance. He's lazy, stays chill no matter what's going on, doesn't overthink situations, and always has something funny to say. I especially admire his love for evening naps and his hatred for Mondays because I feel the same way. Garfield just gets me." -Salwa Kilany

"Definitely the Spotify code for the song 'Ivy.' Out of everything I could have chosen, this patch feels the most personal. It's one of my all-time favorites and perfectly captures my high school journey. The lyrics, especially the line 'I ain't a kid no more; we'll never be those kids again,' reflect my own experience of growing up, changing, and realizing that some parts of life are left behind as we move forward." -Tulay Saydawi

Episode Description

This school year has been full of ups and downs, but that didn't stop our beloved seniors from keeping a positive outlook. Here's a look at some of the silliest (and most unforgettable) incidents they experienced along the way.

The ASIS senior students came together to create a Sign-In Poster, a symbol of the bright, enthusiastic year they were determined to have. They spent the entire morning crafting the perfect piece, full of color and life, each girl stamping her handprint as a personal oath to make the most of their final year. However, as all good things must come to an end, their excitement quickly turned to heartbreak. Just as they went to admire their colorful masterpiece one last time, they were met with a devastating sight: the poster had been torn apart and ripped from the wall by the wind, left in a state beyond repair. Disheartened, the seniors couldn't help but wonder: was it a bad omen, or just a cruel twist of fate?

Our “You Just Had to Be There” Moments

The seniors had been eagerly anticipating their matcha at Somatcha, their favorite café known for good vibes, unbeatable drinks, and an immaculate aesthetic. The group gathered around a table, sharing gossip and enjoying their time together, when Lamar suddenly felt a suspicious chill on her legs.

Looking down in horror, she saw her precious matcha leaking from the bottom of her cup — a sad betrayal, indeed. Within seconds, the drink had spilled all over her jeans, shoes, and, of course, her mood. The only thing left untouched? The straw, perfectly in place, remaining the lone stable figure in this moment of chaos. The entire group gasped in surprise, unable to contain their laughter or their shock at this unexpected turn of events.

Episode Description ContinuedIftar, Interrupted

During the holy month of Ramadan, the seniors of 2025 embarked on a side quest: breaking their fast together with their beloved teachers. It was meant to be a peaceful evening, with everyone gathered around, waiting for the call to prayer so they could finally indulge in delicious food.

But, unsurprisingly, peaceful it was not. (Do these incidents ever end?) The moment prayer ended, a chaotic rush toward the open buffet began. In the frenzy, Reemaz became an unfortunate victim — crashing into one of the dining tables, knocking over a thermal coffee carafe, and creating a full-on waterfall of Saudi coffee. As embarrassing as it was, it didn't take long for the girls to shake it off, fill their plates, and continue their evening full of laughter and memories.

A Bumpy Ride

After spending the morning at the park playing with water balloons, it was only fitting for the seniors to treat themselves to iced coffee from their beloved Half Million. The girls weren't usually the most patient, but when it came to sweet treats, they had mastered the art of anticipation! As soon as they received the notification that their order had arrived, they rushed over with welcoming smiles and radiant energy, ecstatic to finally have their drinks.

Once again, tragedy struck- one of the drinks had spilled during the delivery and was completely annihilated. There was only one thing to do: channel their inner Karens and craft the most dramatic complaint imaginable. Hand in hand, the entire senior class brainstormed a complaint that would catch the eye of the authorities and ensure that such an outrageous accident would never happen again.

SERIES

Episode Description

Every Thursday morning, we weren't just seniors gathered around food- we were our own version of The Breakfast Club (minus the detention, plus croissants and coffee). Like the movie, those mornings brought together people who might not have crossed paths otherwise. We laughed, we shared stories, and somewhere between the bites and banter, we stopped being just classmates and started becoming something more. It was a tradition that reminded us that sometimes, the best parts of high school are the ones that sneak up on you. This was our Breakfast Club — no stereotypes, just seniors and a table full of moments we'll never forget.

We each grabbed something different, threw it all together on the table, and just ate while we debated which graduation song was worthy. Nothing fancy-just us, food, and a whole lot of opinions.

The academic climate took a dark turn during finals season. Students were seen entering the school building looking like they were walking into the Hunger Games. Storm warnings were issued:

- Teachers entered Class Mode: RAGE LEVEL 7.
- Stress clouds hovered over every classroom.
- Caffeine consumption was off the charts. Red bull should probably sponsor the school at this point.

Special shout-out to the calculators who got absolutely slaughtered during Math and Calculus finals. Gone, but not forgotten.

Final Exams - 90% Academic Anxiety, 10% "Did We Even Learn This?"

I missed those carefree days back in Peru, like how my friends and I would joke around every day at school so much that our stomachs ached from the banter. Les élèves ont réalisé une activité créative et porteuse de sens autour de la chanson «On écrit sur les murs». En jouant et en filmant une vidéo inspirée de cette chanson, les élèves ont non seulement développé leurs compétences linguistiques en français, mais ont aussi réfléchi à l'importance de diffuser des messages positifs au sein de leur communauté et au-delà. (MYP 2).

Les élèves ont participé à une activité créative où ils ont imaginé et conçu leur maison du futur, qu'ils ont ensuite présentée en français. Elle les a encouragés à faire preuve d'imagination, à penser de manière innovante et à réfléchir aux enjeux du monde de demain. Le message porté par cette activité est que la langue est un outil puissant pour exprimer ses idées, rêver, créer et partager une vision personnelle de l'avenir.(MYP1 A-B)

Dans « Max n'aime pas perdre », l'histoire commence lorsque Max perd un match de foot à l'école. Très frustré, il crie sur ses coéquipiers et leur dit que ce n'est pas juste. Plus tard, de retour chez lui, il joue à des jeux vidéo et de société avec ses amis et sa famille, mais il perd à nouveau, s'énerve et gâche la partie. Il va ensuite jouer au tennis avec ses amis, où il perd encore et accuse son ami de tricherie après avoir jeté sa raquette. À cause du comportement et de l'attitude de Max, ses amis ne veulent plus être amis avec lui. Max se sent triste et seul, alors il en parle à ses parents. Ils lui expliquent que perdre fait partie du jeu et que le plus important est de s'amuser et d'être gentil. Max commence à comprendre et envisage de changer. La fois suivante, il reste calme et prend plaisir à jouer, même s'il perd. Finalement, Max apprend à être un bon joueur et ses amis prennent à nouveau plaisir à jouer avec lui.
